

Now draw some sneaky mice here! Combine your list and doodles into characters. Circle your favorite design, and give your mouse a name!

I love this mouse!

The astronomers have launched their science capsule deep into the far reaches of space! What do they see out there? Planets and comets? Aliens and UFOs? Satellites and rocket ships? Draw your version of outer space so the astronomers can get excited and take down some space notes. And perhaps we can journey even farther into the unknown . . .

IDEA ZONE: What if there were space animals out here like monkeys, elephants, and chipmunks? Or star cars, or asteroids made of cheese and bread? I mean, you could put anything out there floating around. A cup of freshly brewed space tea would be nice.

These monster drivers want to do some joyriding! Why don't you give them what they want? Take a look at each driver and think about what each one might love in a car, and then draw it!

The mummy car!

The vampire car!

The skeleton car!

The werewolf car!

The cyclops car!

Little bird wants a car, too.

Mousers already has one.
